

ALTC Connect: How to get funding from the Australian Learning & Teaching Council

ALTC Scheme	Funding Available	Internal Timelines	Who Can Apply? What Is The ALTC Looking For?
Grants <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Competitive Grants (CG) Priority Projects (PP) Leadership Program (LP) 	Up to $220,000	15 October 2009 –CG Early 2010 for PP & LP grant schemes	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Funding available for teaching and learning initiatives that link to ALTC's priorities. Unique, collaborative projects that will benefit the wider higher education sector, either within your discipline or beyond.
Fellowships <ul style="list-style-type: none"> National Teaching Fellowship (NTF) Teaching Fellowship (TF) 	NTF: Up to $350,000 TF: Up to $100,000	February 2010	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Increasingly competitive; applicants Senior Lecturer or above, with a strong national profile in teaching & learning. NTF: one year of engagement over 18 months TF: three months of engagement over one year Successful applicants will undertake strategic, high profile fellowship activities in areas that support the enhancement of learning and teaching in Australian higher education.
Awards <ul style="list-style-type: none"> Teaching Excellence Programs that Enhance Learning Citations 	Teaching: $25,000 Program: $25,000 Citation: $10,000	February 2010	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ALTC award nominees are selected from the University's internal awards for teaching and service. Teaching: Academics who have taught at the University for at least two years, outstanding on all five criteria. Program: Academics and/or professional staff responsible for sustained projects or services relating to teaching and learning. Citations: Academics and/or professional staff who have made a sustained contribution to the student experience.

The CSHE will gladly assist University staff in the preparation of their applications. Further information available at: www.cshe.unimelb.edu.au/resources/carrick.html or contact Claire Jennings 8344-7577 / clairej@unimelb.edu.au